

Prof. Dr. Villa Braslavsky (Institut für Soziologie, LMU München) & Dr. Andrea Löw (Institut für Zeitgeschichte München) laden ein:

Vortrag von
Prof. Dr. Andrea Petö
(CEU Budapest)

»Doing science in an illiberal state:
challenges not only for Hungary«

29.04.2019 / 18-20 Uhr c.t.
M110 Hauptgebäude der LMU

(Geschwister-Scholl-Platz 1)

Der Vortrag ist hochschulöffentlich -
Keine Anmeldung erforderlich

Andrea Petö is Professor in the Department of Gender Studies at Central European University, Budapest, Hungary and a Doctor of Science of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. She teaches European comparative social and gender history, gender and politics, women's movements, qualitative methods, oral history, and the Holocaust. Author of 5 monographs, editor of 31 volumes, as well as 259 articles and chapters in books published in 19 languages. In 2018 she was awarded the 2018 All European Academies Madame de Staël Prize for Cultural Values. Her current project „Invisible perpetrators: memory of Hungarian female perpetrators of WWII in Hungary“ examines women's participation in far right political movements, how they became perpetrators during WWII and how their memory was shaped in the post war period. The project conceptualizes invisibility on different levels: women's absence from historiography, collective and from individual memory. The aim is to analyze motivations, forms of own in far right politics through life story of major personalities.

(https://people.ceu.edu/andrea_peto)

www.ifz-muenchen.de

www.gender.sozilogie.uni-muenchen.de